

BASELINERS JUNIOR DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

The Harrison Baseliners Junior Development Program is for the player that has competed in several seasons of ALTA or USTA league play at the lower levels and is now ready to make the commitment needed to develop their game to play on higher level league teams, play beginning level tournaments. This level of the Harrison Junior Development Program focuses on the development of the topspin drive and the spin serve plus continued reinforcement of the basic stroke mechanics.

Close attention will be given to the use of the correct grips for ground strokes, volleys, half-volleys, serves and overheads. Proper footwork for good balance to produce a solid foundation for the strokes will be emphasized.

Sessions will consist of warm-up and instruction time using line drills to develop specific shots through repetition. This is followed by practice with a hitting partner using live ball drills to focus on good stroke mechanics for the specific shot for that session. Some competitive games will be played.

The player should be ready to play at higher league levels, participate at lower tournament levels and be able to qualify for the High Performance Academy after successful completion of the Baseliners Junior Development Program.

For acceptance into the Baseliners Junior Development Program a player should be able to demonstrate good ball control by maintaining a rally at moderate pace, move the ball from side to side in the court and show the ability to control depth on the shots by the use of the follow through. They should already be experimenting with spin.

The Baseline Junior Development Program is part of the Harrison Tennis center Junior Development Program and meets year-round.
